

Answer key

Comprehension 1

1 owning more material possessions

2 unimaginable

3 i)

ii) a vicious cycle (that never ends)

4 i) They feel more important and respected. (any reasonable answer)

ii) because it makes people believe they are better than their actual selves (any reasonable answer)

5 C

6 (i) cluttered

(ii) stuffed

7 B

8 He means that even though thinking before spending is an overused piece of advice, there are still many people who do not do this. (any reasonable answer)

9 i) he can save money/it is more budget-friendly (any reasonable answer)

ii) it is better for the environment (any reasonable answer)

10 i) 3

ii) 4

iii) 2

iv)

v) 1

11 to give the writer's opinion about overconsumption/consumerism/materialism (any reasonable answer)

12 D

13 The writer thinks that we are living in a society where the ^{media} environment encourages us to ^{more} buy less than we need. People with ^{low} high self-esteem are more likely to overspend and ^{splurge} save their money at shops to make themselves feel ^{better} worse. As a result, they get more ^{depressed} content because they have no money to pay off their ^{debts} credits. To avoid overspending, the writer advises people to ^{think} spend before they ^{spend} think and to understand that money cannot buy ^{happiness} confidence.

- 14 i) compulsive shopping
 ii) quick fix
 iii) social status